Wow he has been in the media a lot over the past 48 hours. I dunno if anyone watched his 60 minutes interview but i thought it was pretty good. Also his press conference yesterday was crazy with revealing his phone convo with Mcnamee. Finally it looks like Clemens is going all out to prove he didn't take steroids. It's about time Roger.

If you asked me he didn't look very good during the interview. He looked like a liar. He was swallowing a lot and whenever he was asked a tough question he was looking away from the camera.....I want to believe him but right now I can't.

If he takes Mcnamee to court and he shows up and swears under oath and testifies against mcnamee then I will believe him. Because I know that Clemens wouldn't lie under oath like Bonds. He wouldn't make that same mistake. So if he does that. Then he's got me on his side.

Well Roger is gonna have to wait a month to go under oath and tell his side of the story. Honestly I think you have to go with him being innocent until proven guilty. I know he might look like he is guilty, but I really thought he never used steroids until the Mitchell report came out.
